AGENDA 02 NOV. » 07 JAN.

santa maria da feira câmara municipal

The Christmas season has a special glow in Santa Maria da Feira, because it is celebrated with the involvement of everyone, in every corner of a territory that distinguishes itself by its know-how and hospitality.

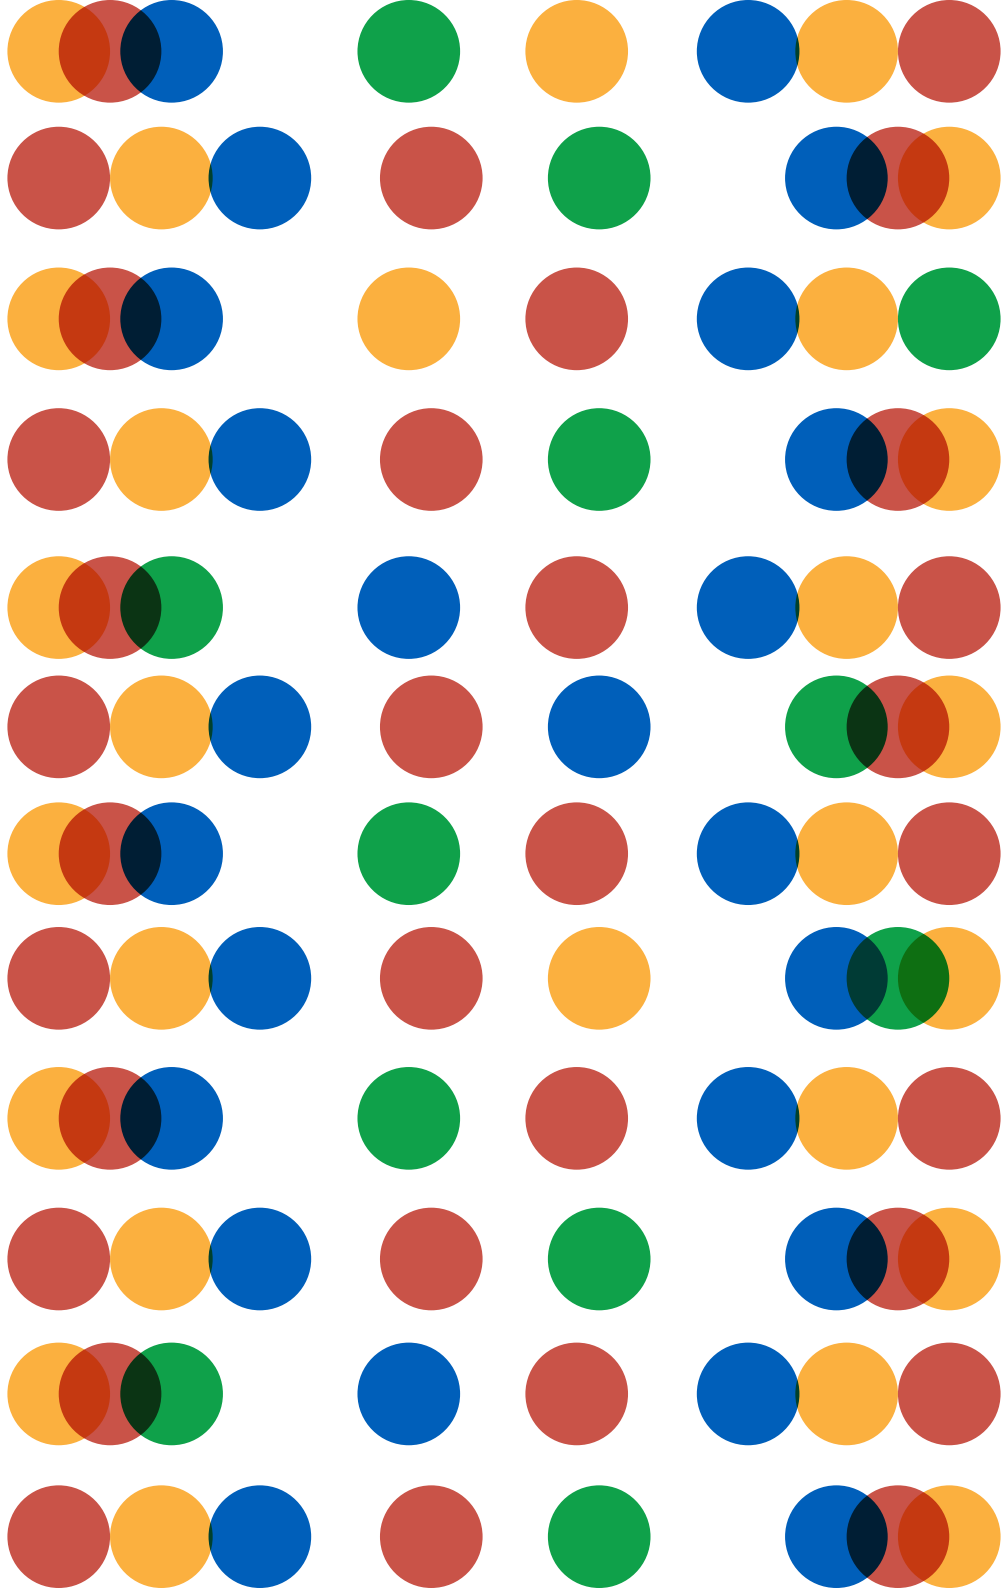

Libraries and museums, churches and auditoriums, schools and social solidarity institutions, shops and restaurants are all mobilizing and opening their doors for exhibitions and concerts, workshops and thematic talks, displays of local products and gastronomic experiences that invite you to enjoy.

In the historic centre of the city, there are several points of interest that make a circular route worthwhile: Perlím at the Castle and Quinta do Castelo; the Christmas Market in Rossio; the Circus and Ice Rink at Parque Condes de Fijó; the Municipal Market on Descobrimentos Street; Gaspar Moreira Square, next to the City Hall; Dr. Roberto Alves Street, better known as Rua Direita; and the Lóios Convent Museum, on the way up to the Castle – places worth (re)visiting during this festive season.

As night falls, the Christmas lights bring a new glow to the city, and the magic of Perlím takes over the skies with an aerial choreography created by 220 drones, in an original, free-access spectacle that promises to be unforgettable.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Between 2 November and 30 December, the CHRISTMAS BAZAAR returns to @museu_de_lamas!

There are many ideas and proposals for unique and eco-friendly Christmas gifts that the Museum implements in an original way, taking advantage of the manifold potential of cork, one of the most distinctive raw materials of a part of its collection.

Fashion accessories, decorative objects, and, above all, many Nativity scenes—from traditional to more innovative—are some of the products and highlights you can find at this Bazaar.

Offer culture, tradition, originality, identity and visit us for free (in a campaign valid for purchases over €20).

MAILBOX MARKERS

MAGICAL CHRISTMAS

At Christmas, the Postboxes transform into magical gateways to the imagination. They receive letters addressed to Santa Claus, filled with dreams, wishes, and innocence. Each letter deposited is more than a request: it's the living hope in children's hearts, the magic of believing that anything is possible. Painted red and decorated for the season, these postboxes remind us that Christmas is also written on paper, with the tenderness of words and the joy of waiting for a reply from the North Pole.

LIVE RESTORATION AT THE MUSEUM

The idea of a "Live Restoration" at the Lamas Museum is based on our aim to promote greater public interaction and understanding of the realities surrounding the preservation, study, and promotion of our heritage. In other words, this type of activity allows visitors, within the context of a museum visit, to observe preventive conservation and restoration interventions that were previously restricted to the public. This initiative reveals the reality behind the work of art and the laborious task of the conservator-restorer who, in a pedagogical and engaging manner, clarifies questions, enumerates, and presents, in direct confrontation, the problems and appropriate solutions of the collection under intervention.

GUIDED TOURS OF THE MUSEUM'S PERMANENT EXHIBITION

Though popularly nicknamed the "Cork Museum," this epithet proves reductive given the reality and variety of exhibitions housed at the Santa Maria de Lamas Museum.

This museum complex, as a whole, archives and exhibits a unique collection, restored and reorganized since 2004. It showcases hundreds, if not thousands, of pieces of sacred art; Portuguese statuary; ethnography; natural sciences. And, finally, a collection of pieces, utensils, devices and objects that reflect the economic, industrial, and even social identity of Santa Maria de Lamas. Its collection and programming make this museum a significant space in the Portuguese landscape.

CHRISTMAS AT THE MUSEUM Visits, shadow play and workshops

To celebrate the Christmas season, the Museum's Educational Service offers a series of fun and educational activities inspired by its collections.

You can also request the "The Museum Comes to You" service, a project that aims to take and promote Educational Service activities "beyond the Museum's doors", enabling access to different audiences integrated into institutions, and thus providing enriching recreational and educational moments.

1. On the way to Bethlehem – Shadow Play + Plastic Expression Workshop

Through a shadow play, the Museum invites you to participate in the re-enactment of the moments experienced by Mary, mother of Jesus, from the episode of the Annunciation made by the Angel Gabriel, to the Epiphany of the Adoration of the Child by the Magi from the East.

2. Guided visit to the Museum + Plastic Expression Workshop

The Lamas Museum is a unique example in the history of 20th-century Portuguese museography. A unique collection, restored and reorganized since 2004, it showcases collections of sacred art, Portuguese statuary, ethnography, natural sciences, sculpture in cork/cork agglomerate, and industrial archaeology, highlighting the potential of this raw material and reflecting the identity of the local community.

A PAPER CHRISTMAS POSTCARDS WITH ESSENTIAL VALUES

With Christmas approaching, it's urgent to remember the true essence of this festive season, full of magic and colour. The "A Paper Christmas" activity begins with the story "Christmas Eve" by Sophia de Mello Breyner, using shadow play.

Once the story is finished, participants are invited to create postcards using paper produced at the museum, conveying messages embodying the essential values of Christmas: love, solidarity, peace, harmony, faith, hope, and gratitude.

Remembering and practicing these values is the true gift of Christmas, which should be cultivated throughout the year to build a more understanding and supportive world.

May the light of Christmas always shine in our hearts!

ST. NICHOLAS COLLECTIVE INSTALLATION

During the brightest time of the year, the St. Nicholas Collective Christmas Installation will turn downtown Santa Maria da Feira into a trail of light and emotion, where urban art reflects memories, affection, and community identity.

Created by families and children from our schools, the initiative produces 650 felt candle lamps, crafted with dedication and a spirit of unity. Suspended over Dr. Roberto Alves Street, the yellow and white candles illuminate the space with a welcoming glow, a symbol of human warmth and shared creativity.

Inspired by St. Nicholas, they evoke the generosity, hope, and peace that define the true Christmas spirit, celebrating the power of community in bringing light to Christmas.
